Huntsville Madison County Builders Association established as host site for the OSHA Training Institute Education Center at Volunteer State Community College

The Huntsville Madison County Builders Association (HMCBA) is proud to be selected as a Host Training Organization (HTO) for OSHA courses offered by the OSHA Training Institute (OTI) Education Center at Volunteer State Community College (VSCC.). The goal of OSHA courses is to reduce workplace fatalities and injuries by teaching the application of OSHA standards in hazard recognition and prevention.

The OTI Education Centers are a national network of non-profit organizations authorized by OSHA to deliver occupational safety and health training to public and private sector workers, supervisors, and employers on behalf of OSHA. OSHA encourages all OTI Education Centers to establish host sites to provide additional training opportunities within their respective OSHA Region. Learn more about the VSCC OTI Education Center at www.volstate.edu/workforce/osh.

HMCBA previously established The North Alabama Homebuilding Academy, or NAHA for short. A nonprofit organization that provides hands-on short-term programming to individuals seeking to enter into the residential construction industry

“The agreement between our two institutions allows us to support OSHA’s mission to ensure safe and healthful working conditions for workers through education and training,” says Barry Oxley, Executive Officer of the Huntsville Madison County Builders Association.

The schedule of courses will be announced in the coming weeks. For continuing developments visit <https://hmcba.org/>.

About The Huntsville Madison County Builders Association

HMCBA is a professional trade association dedicated to supporting its membership by promoting the building industry and improving the quality of life in the communities it serves.
